

A CCCHAPS RESOURCE

Quiet Leadership Support, On Your Terms.

A confidential brief for the people carrying the weight.

Executive isolation is the predictable cost of senior leadership. This brief outlines what private chaplain engagement looks like for founders, CEOs, and senior leaders — and how it differs from coaching, therapy, or a peer group.

What an executive engagement actually looks like.

Practical, executive-friendly notes.

■ Private. Off-the-org-chart.

No record in HR. No visibility to your team. A trusted, confidential presence outside the chain of command.

■ Cadence built around your real calendar.

Most executives meet monthly or bi-monthly — in person, virtual, or walking. The rhythm is yours; the chaplain adapts.

■ Non-clinical, non-religious by default.

Not therapy. Not coaching. Not a sermon. A grounded, human conversation about the weight of leading people.

■ Useful in the seasons that matter most.

Funding rounds. Layoffs. Loss in the family. Boardroom turbulence. Founder burnout. Sale events. The conversations that don't fit anywhere else on the calendar.

■ Aggregate, never identifying.

If you ever choose to share patterns with a co-founder or board, it's your call. Nothing leaves the room without you.

Leadership is heavy. The right kind of quiet support keeps it sustainable.
